ARE YOU READY TO . . .

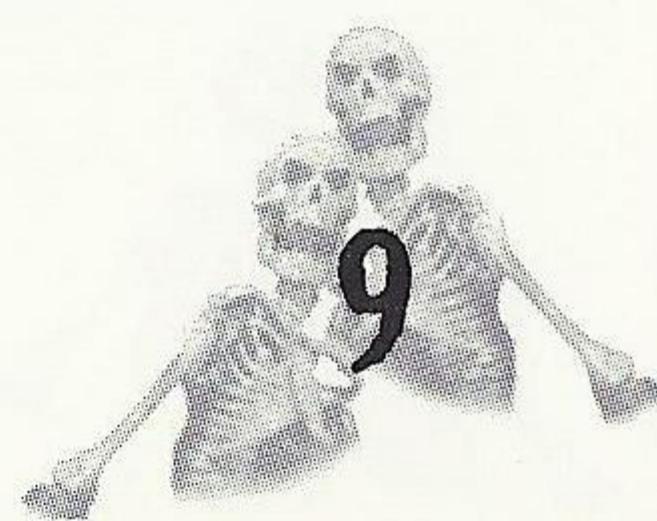

PLUNGE into the deepest catacombs of these ancient ruins? If so you may find the fabled relic, "The Eyes of Guidance." These mythical jewels have eluded others such as yourself for many centuries. They are perhaps the second or third most sought after treasure in existence right behind the Holy Grail and the long lost city of Atlantis.

These stories however predate our western history. Since the dawn of written language, scholars have uncovered fragments of the story. Although the tale is far from complete, here is what we have pieced together:

SEARCH FOR THE LOST TREASURES

Long ago, before the dawn of more "recent civilizations" like the Egyptians or the Mayans, there was a culture that sprang up in a fertile valley nestled near a large body of water. Though the exact location has yet to be pinned down, most scholars have ruled out the Nile or Amazon Basin regions.*

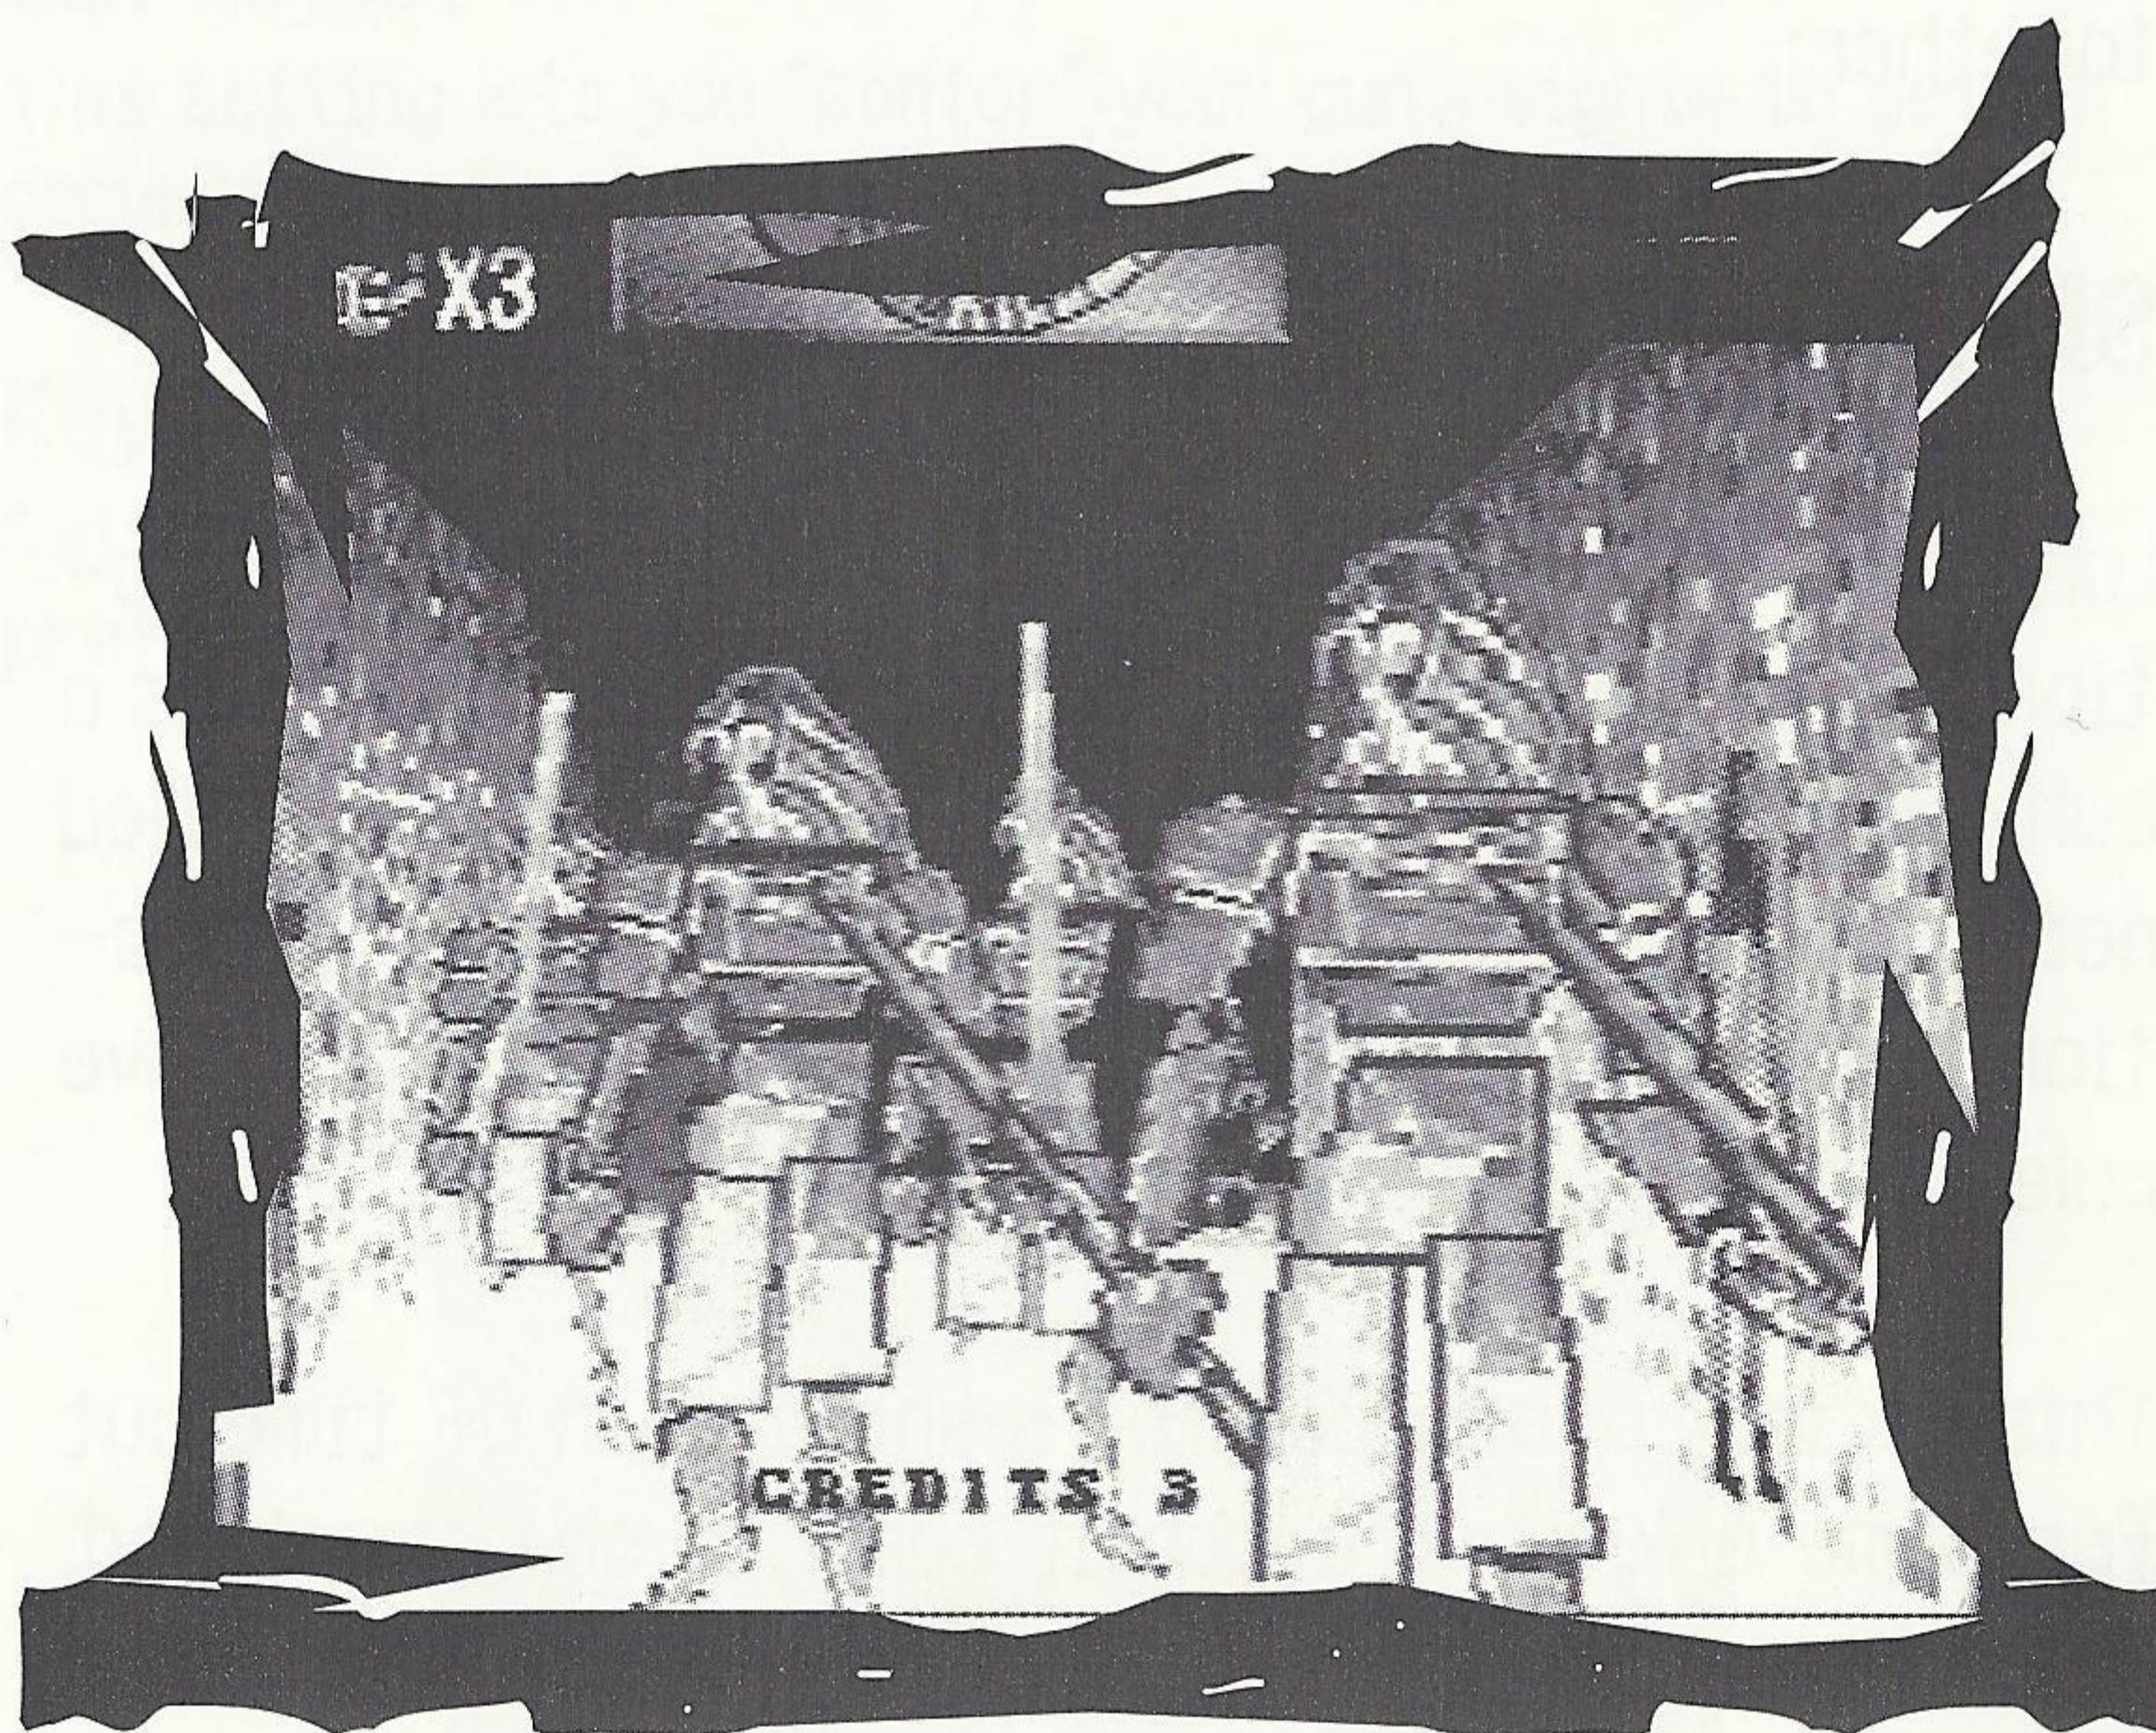

This society prospered for a short span of time but for some unknown reason it came to an abrupt end. There are links however between its history and other icons from seemingly separate cultures.

CRYPT KILLER™

For example, there have been remnants of pottery which show characters not unlike some Greek mythological beings. In addition there is also graphic depictions of mummification rituals that were thought only to exist amidst ancient Egyptian society. Wall carvings showing what appears to be monstrous water based life forms remind one of Atlantis. Some archeologist even claim there are links to Stonehenge, based on the druidic like runes that were uncovered.

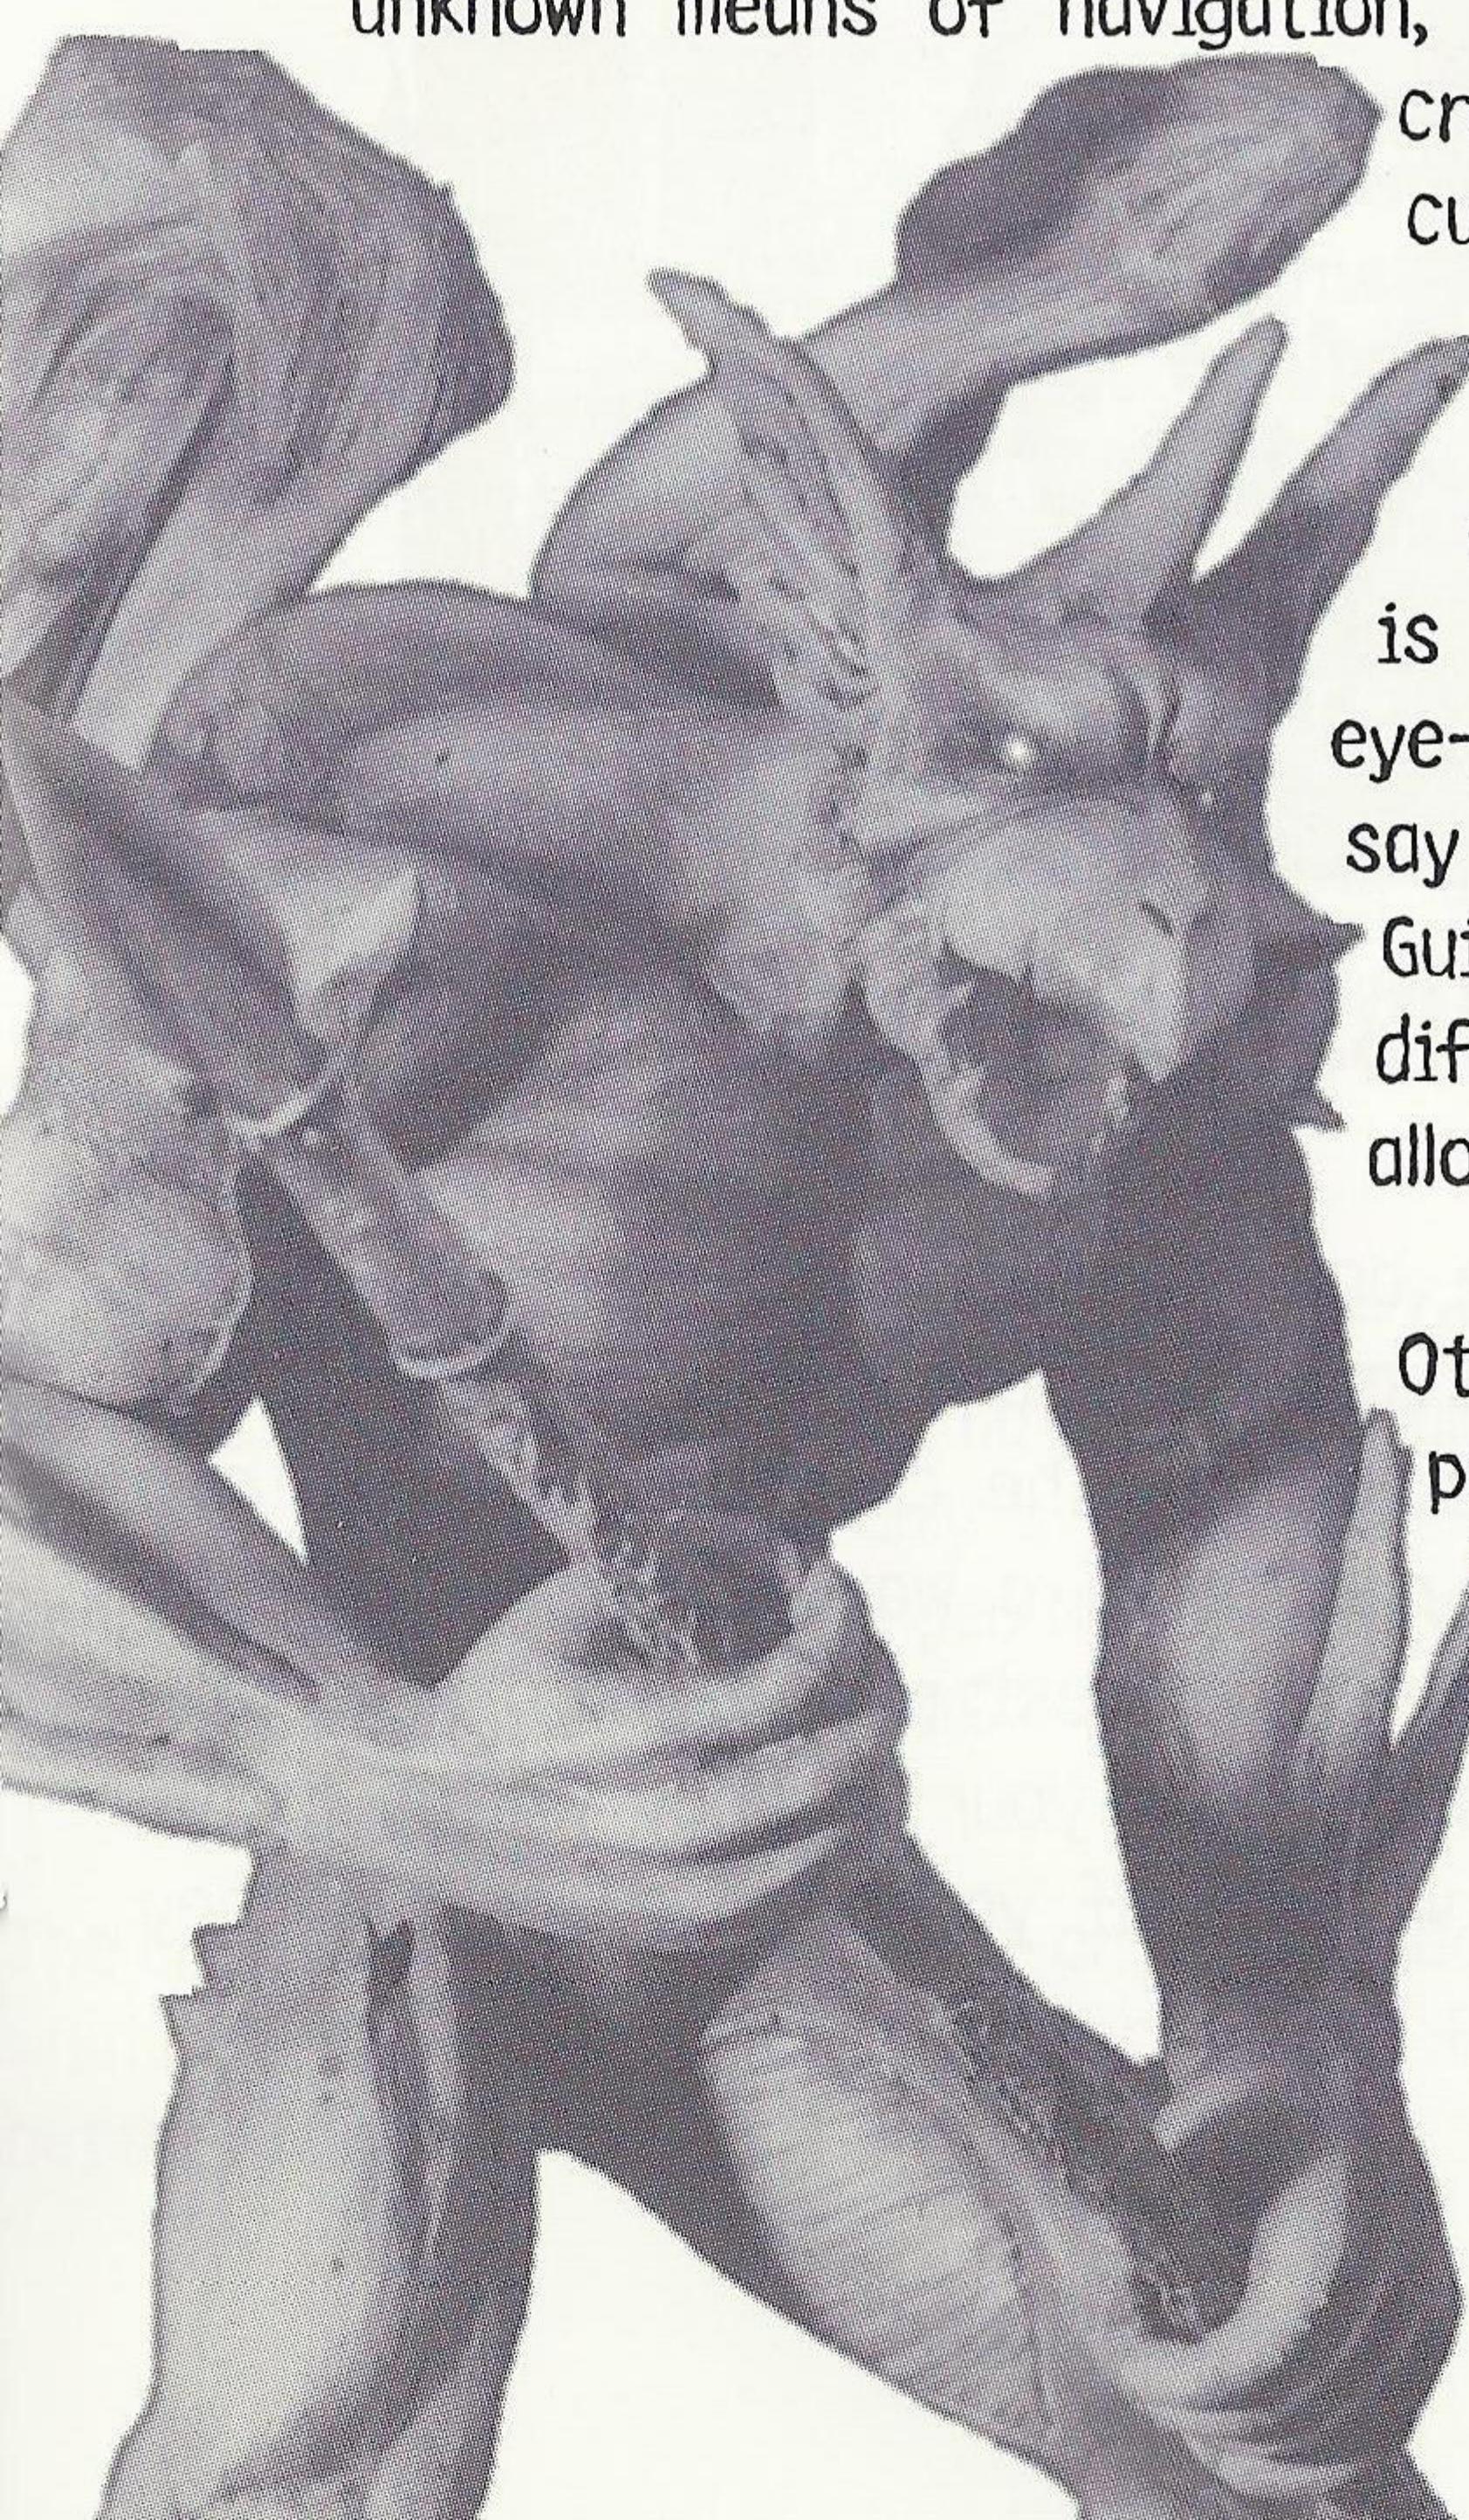

* Some theorists say that it could have been a vast continent-splitting river many miles across, which later receded and became the Grand Canyon in the southwest portion of the United States of America. Other studies, however, site references to areas of southern Asia and a possible landbridge to Australia.

THE CRYSTALS . . .

One reason for their disappearance may be linked to time travel. Inter-dimensional travel is also a theory proposed by the more insightful researchers. This points to an obscure reference to a land or world believed translated as "The Cryptlands".

The popular myth is that "The Cryptlands" were either visited by aliens or were from another planet themselves. The "visitors" left behind some crystals that gave people in this ancient society the ability to pass through time unhindered. Through some unknown means of navigation, these crystals somehow created links with other cultures. This is where the term "The Eyes of Guidance" was originated.

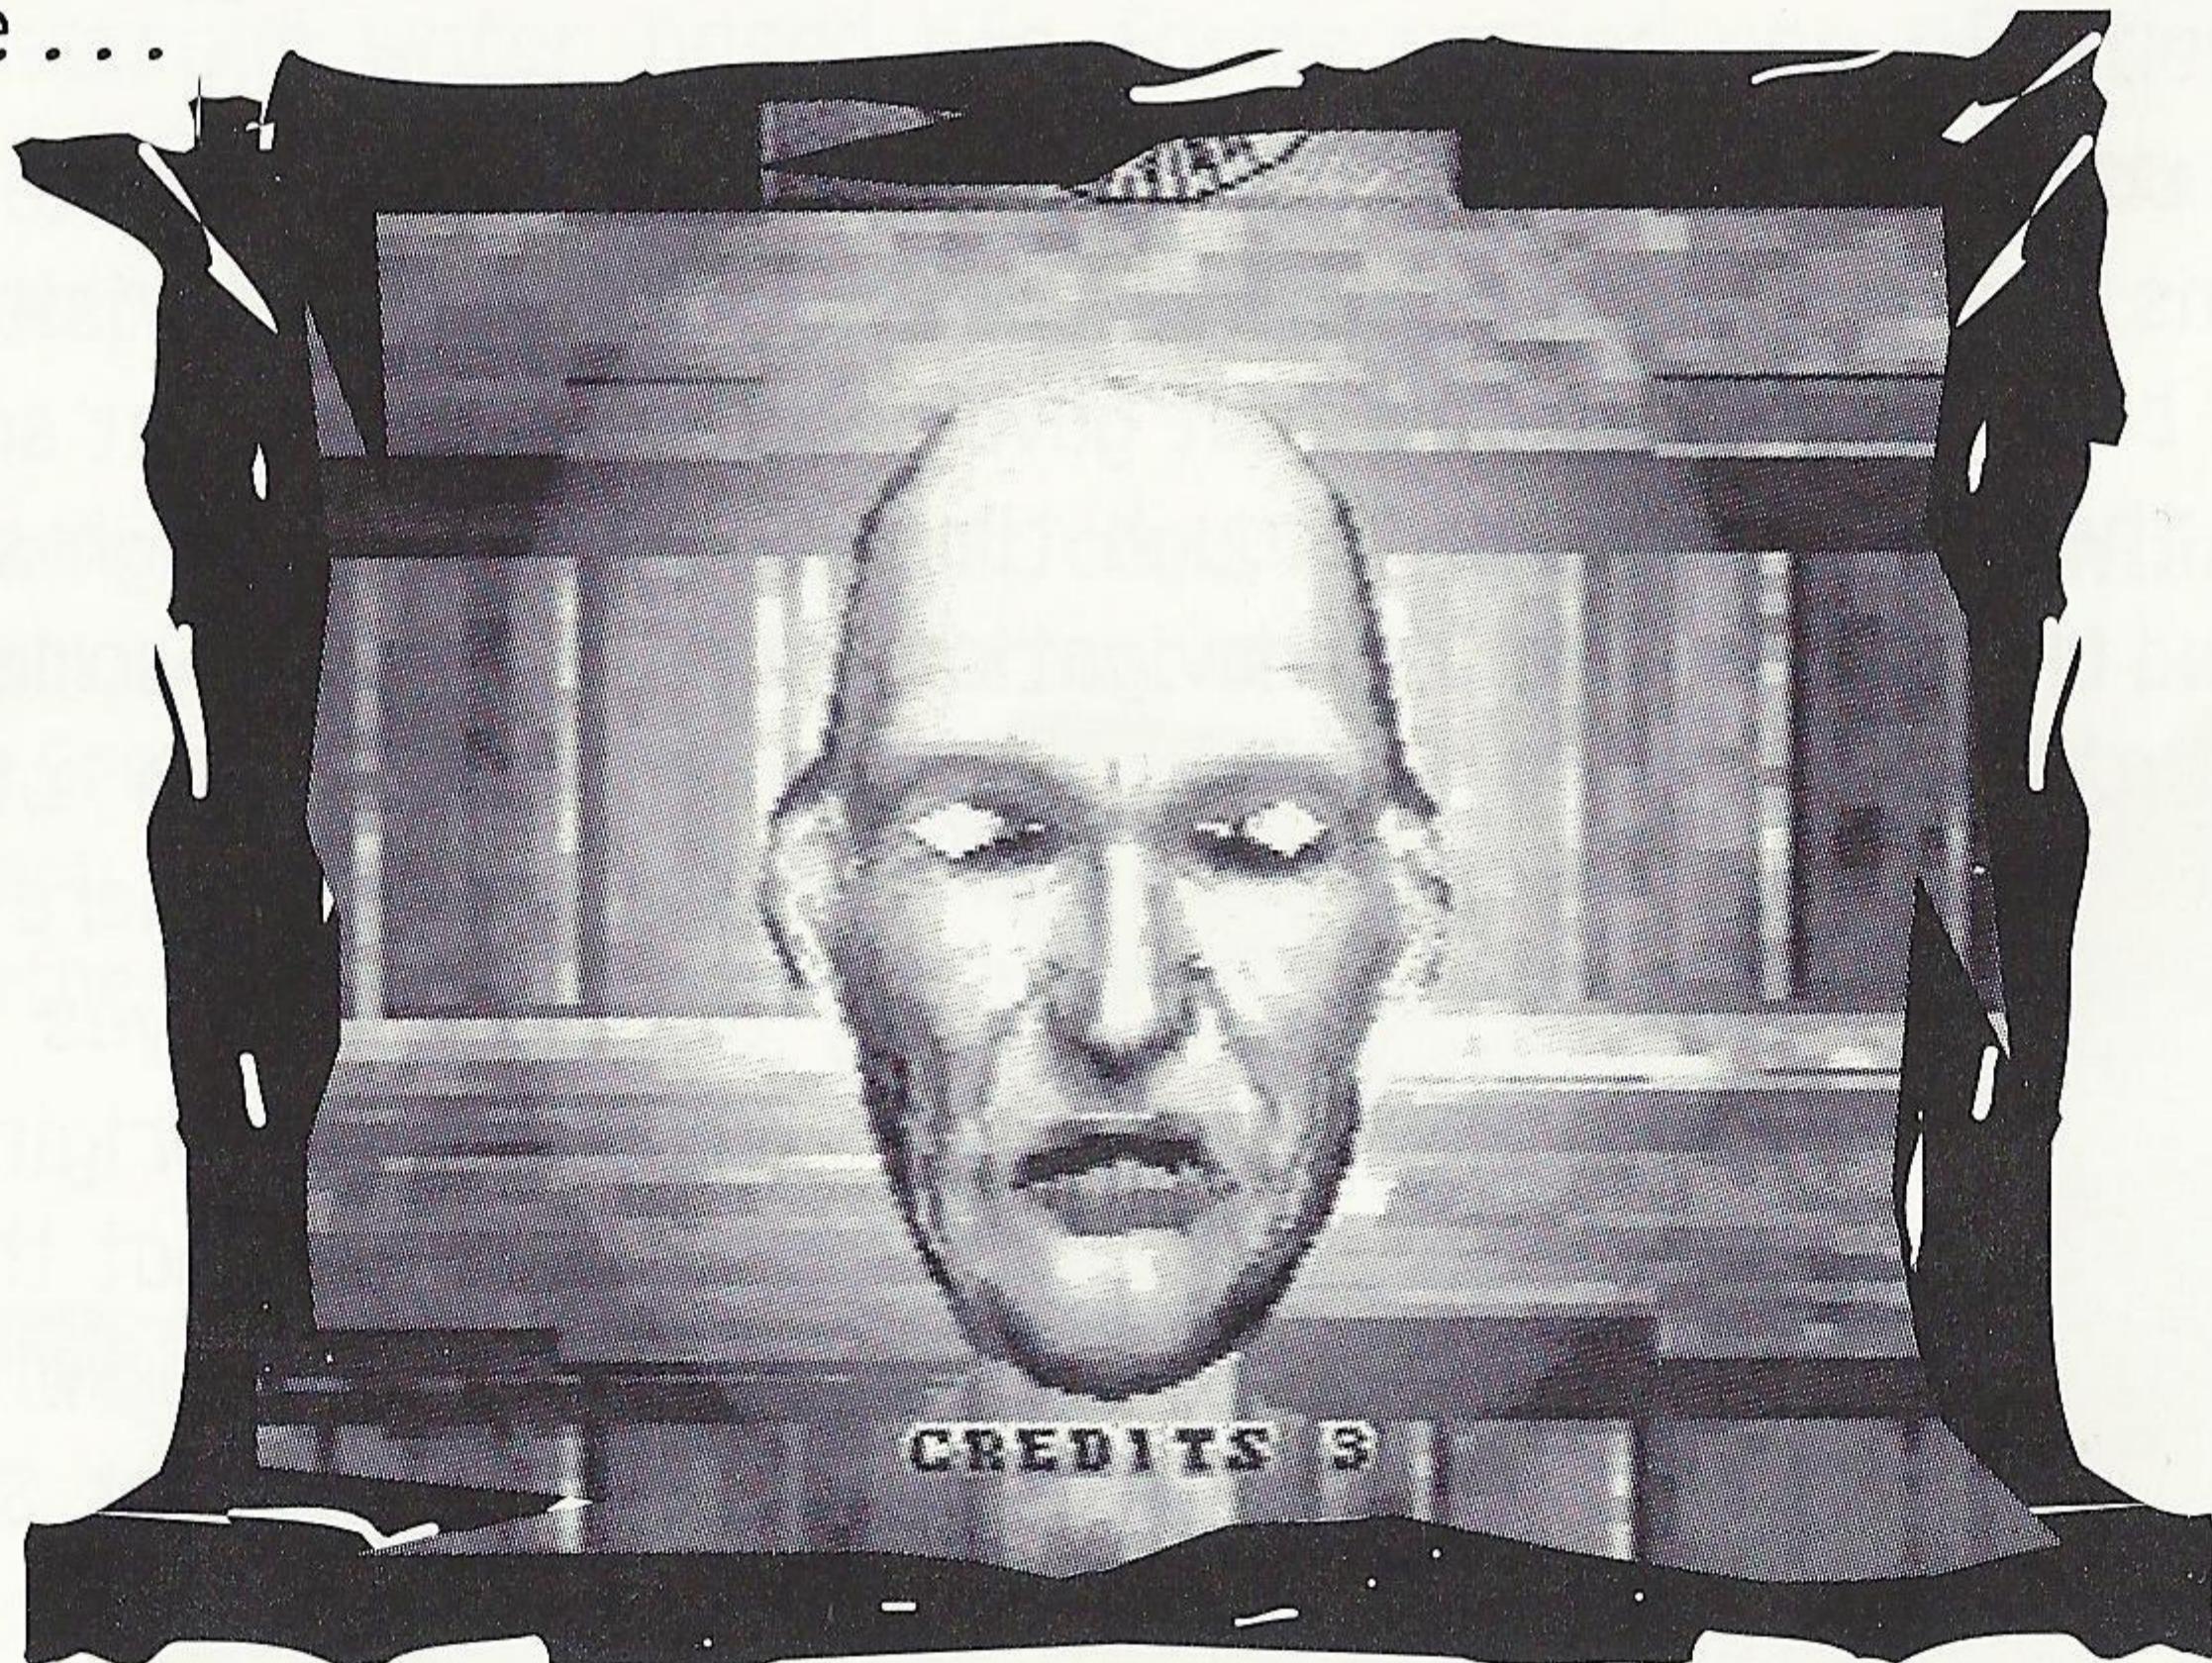

It is known that there is a large statue whose eye-sockets are vacant. Some say that the Eyes of Guidance could be placed in different combinations to allow time travel.

Others say the eyes when properly calibrated could allow access to the hidden spaces of dimensional corridors.

CRYPT KILLER™

The theory also holds that "The Eyes of Guidance" were used to time travel and amass unimaginable treasures. Then they would leave the treasures around in "time vaults" while they continued on their journeys. Somewhere along the line, it is believed that the users of the crystals somehow merged with the cosmos and were lost in time and space, or they embraced much worse of a fate . . .

THE ANCIENT TOMBS OF DEATH . . .

You have discovered the ancient, decaying tombs which you believe still hold the last remaining secrets of this ancient culture. You are determined to find the crystals for your own reasons. You have heard rumors of a wandering spirit guide. The details about it are sketchy at best; plus you don't have time to believe in such things. Perhaps your journey will be profitable, your perceptions widened, if you survive your journey that is . . .

Tales from the Cryptlands

Second Elite Shield of the Skeleton Army reporting: "Bonemaster, I write to you from the front of the war with the Outlander. Things are not going well. Just yesterday, the Outlander came running down the main corridor and shot everything with a weapon the likes of which I have never seen before. It shot forth fire like a dragon's blast but only for a moment, then the fire changed to thunder. As you know, fire is no foe to the members of the Bone Guard. Unfortunately, we have no protection against this. What is worse is that the Outlander keeps yelling, not screams of terror, but screams of reckless glee! I beg you send in The Six Armed Destroyer before it is too late!"

A priest member of the Servants of Quantos: "Quantos hear our plea. The Human Crypt Guardian slays us with his weapon of great magic. Help to reproduce our numbers so that we will be able to drown the Crypt Guardian in a sea of living cloth. There will be no escape from your loyal servants!"

A harpoon bearer of the Scaled Ones: "So surface-dweller (Crypt Guardian we know you hate that!), soft skin, you think you can win. Your magical weapon will expire (eventually) and when it does we will feed you to the Great Deep Hydra."

An Elite Flyer for the Gargoyle Nation of Tarkos: "I have a proposition for you. No wait and hear me out! Tarkos could use a good being such as yourself even if you are only a human. Your fighting skills and exotic weapons could serve the Winged Nation well. We even have good benefits, just check out our dental plan!"

The Crypt Killer: "YEAH, bring it on. We will see who is serving who and on what. Oh, stoneface tell Tarkos he can work for me and my benefits are better, I'll let him live.

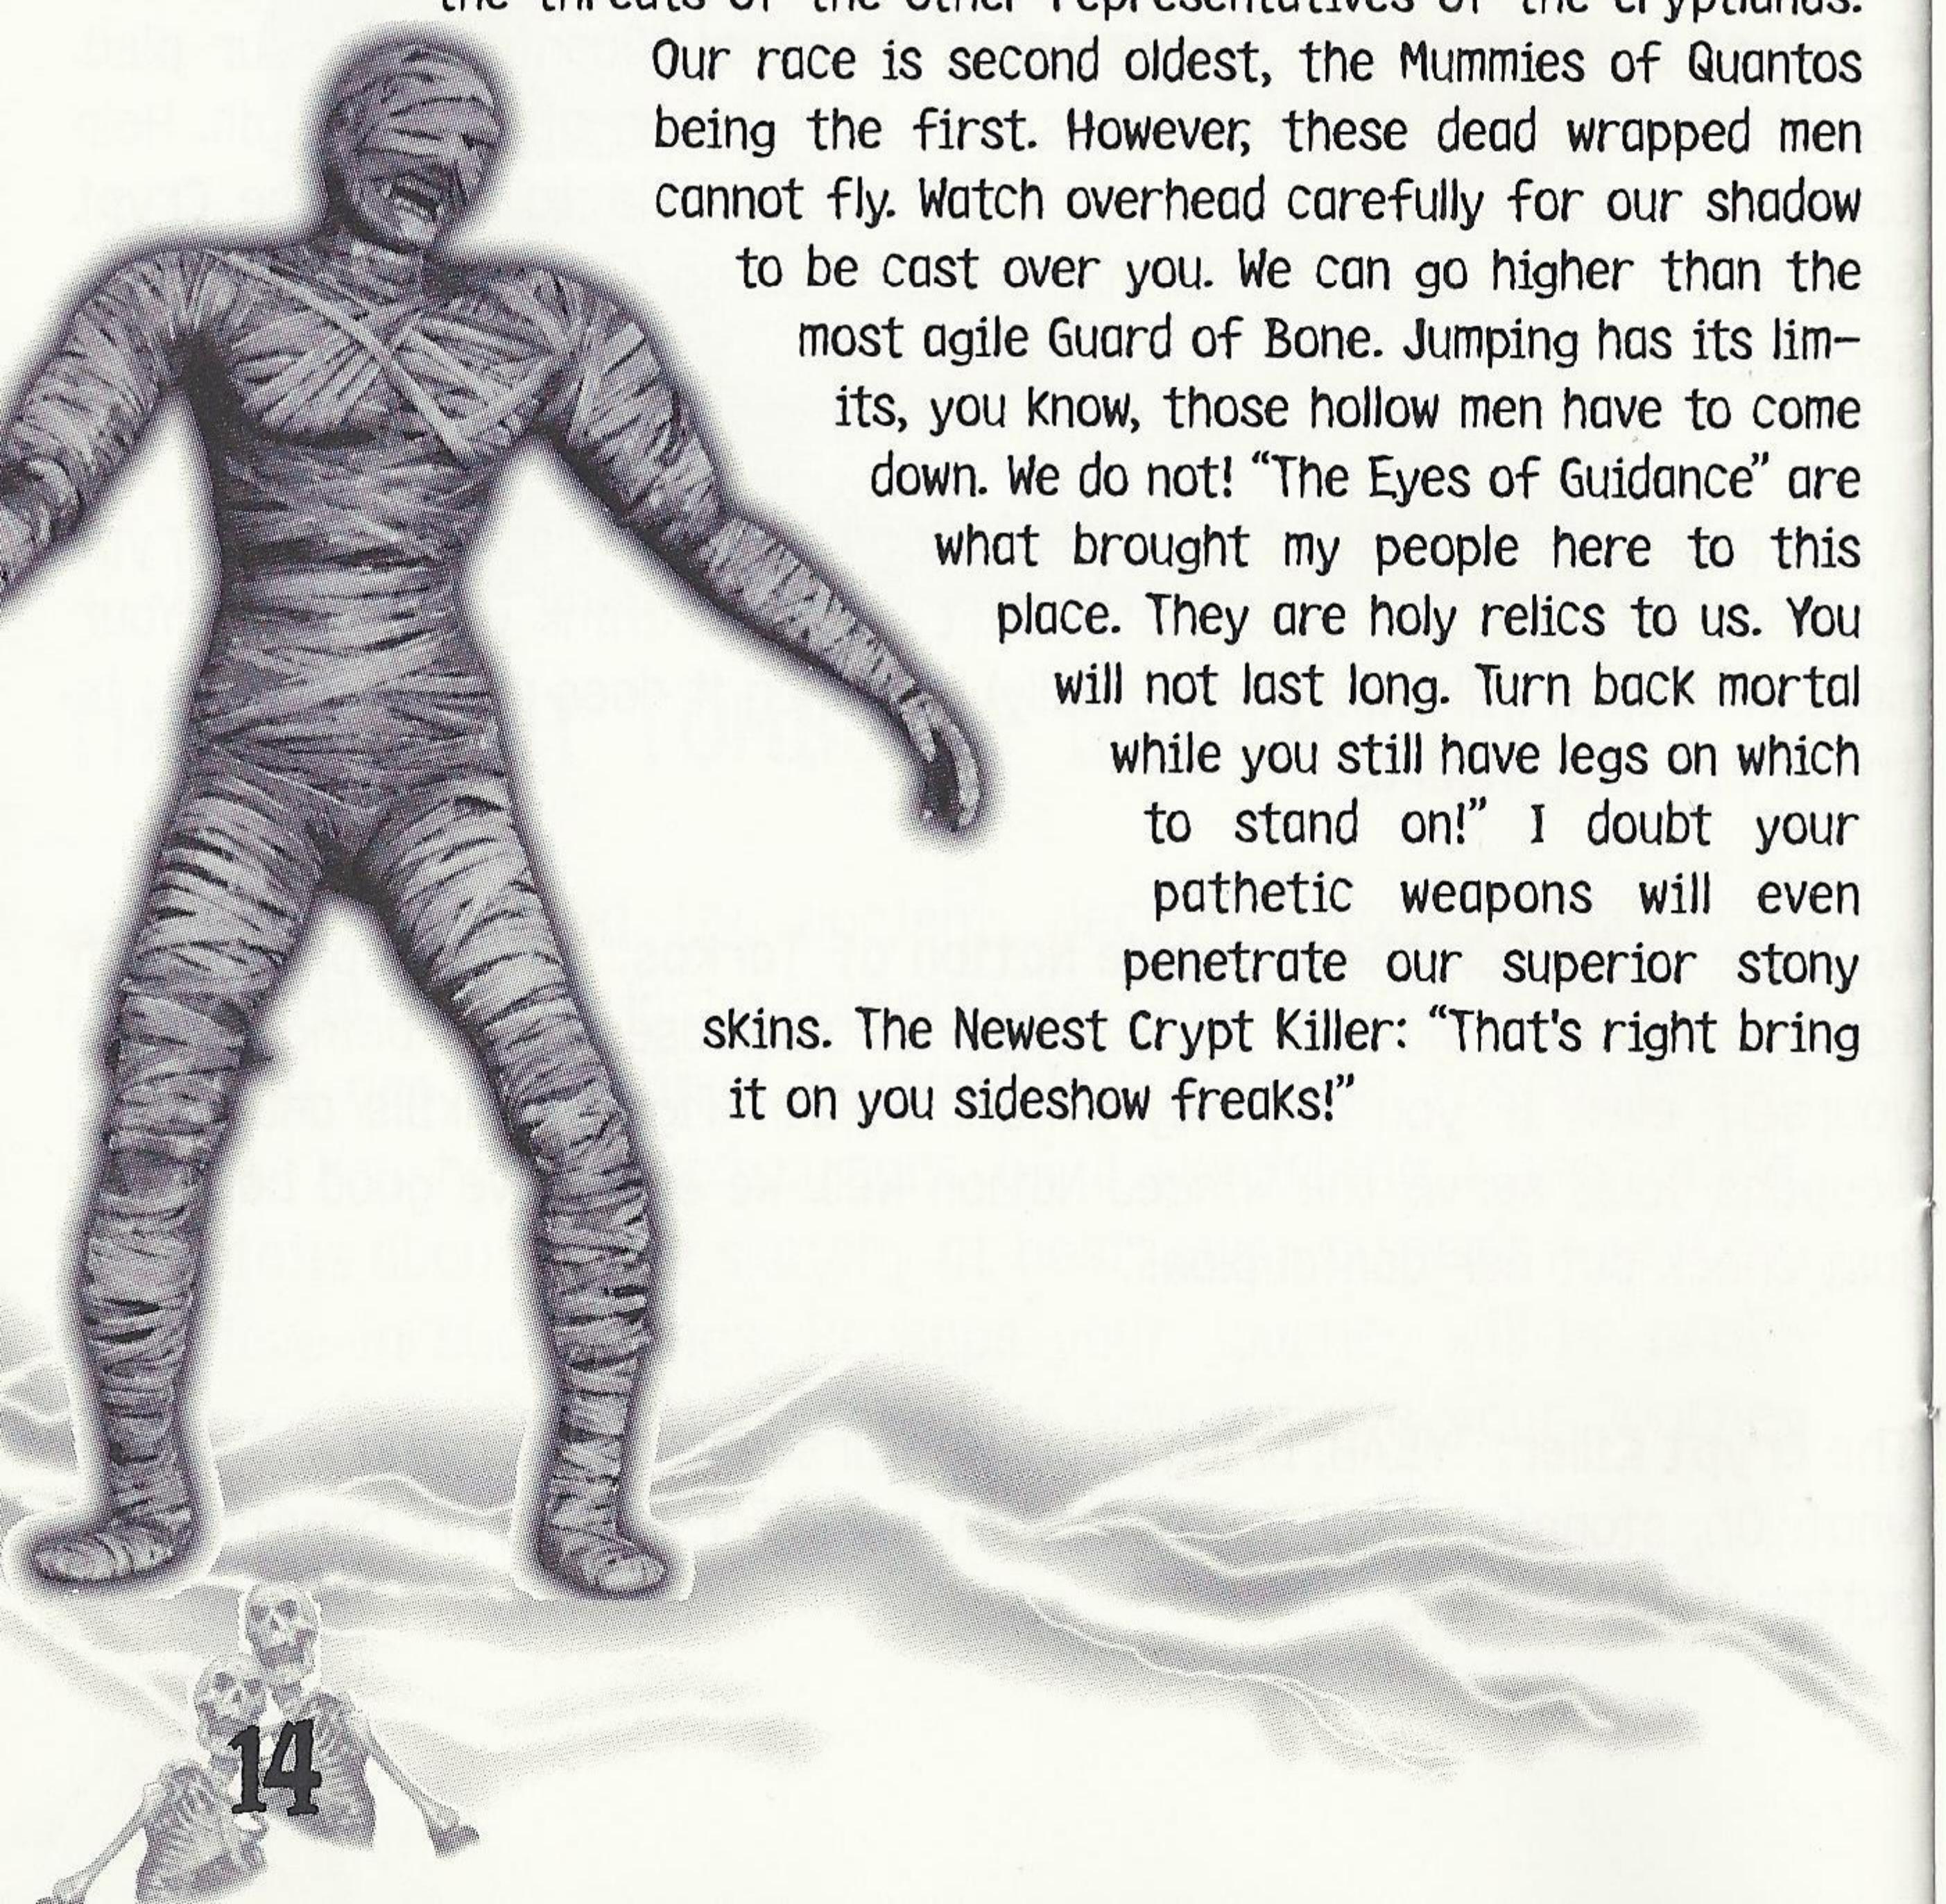

Character Tales

The Mummies of the Cryptlands: "We have defended our homeland for centuries, before your kind even existed. What makes you think you have a chance against our numbers? It is we who built the dark pyramids and it is we who will seal your everlasting fate. The Eyes of Guidance will never be yours to have!"

The Guard of Bone (Skeleton Army): You will not (clatter) pass us human waste! Our skill with the blade is great. We no longer fear death, fleshly one, we are death! Come let us lighten the burden of your coat of flesh so you can (clatter) know our way. What's that I hear, your true self shaking trying to be free of you. Your skeleton knows the true way is the way of the bone!!"

The Gargoyle Nation of Tarkos: (Tarkos Speaks) "By now I'm sure you heard the threats of the other representatives of the Cryptlands.

Our race is second oldest, the Mummies of Quantos being the first. However, these dead wrapped men cannot fly. Watch overhead carefully for our shadow to be cast over you. We can go higher than the most agile Guard of Bone. Jumping has its limits, you know, those hollow men have to come down. We do not! "The Eyes of Guidance" are what brought my people here to this place. They are holy relics to us. You will not last long. Turn back mortal while you still have legs on which to stand on!" I doubt your pathetic weapons will even penetrate our superior stony skins. The Newest Crypt Killer: "That's right bring it on you sideshow freaks!"
